1. INTRODUCTION

In the course of recent decades, numerous nations in Asia have encountered fast financial development. This has prompted a fast ascent in their urban populace. The 74th Constitutional Amendment Act of India establishes the infrastructure for a reasonable Urban Governance System in the Country. While the national governments seek after the objectives of monetary advancement, it is for the most part left for the nearby governments to deal with the quickly developing urban regions, and to give the fundamental administrations to the inhabitants. In India, Urban Local Bodies are the naturally given authoritative units, who give essential infrastructure and administrations in urban territories i.e urban communities and towns. For urban regions, organization of fundamental metro enhancements like water supply, waste, general wellbeing and sanitation are likewise basic.

To have better co-appointment and control on the working of districts in the State, the Directorate of Urban Local Bodies Department, Haryana was built up on first April, 1982. The Department was set up to offer impulse to the 74th Amendment of the Constitution and to establish a strong infrastructure for the Urban Development in the State of Haryana. Haryana is a standout amongst the most dynamic States in India and its kin are very proactive in keeping themselves side by side of the changing worldwide scene. With fast urbanization, developing needs of the residents for proficient and compelling administration conveyance, better community enhancements in this way giving better expectations for everyday comforts, the exercises of the division have duplicated manifolds. For productive and viable administration conveyance, the Department is empowering substitution of customary conveyance arrangement of open administrations by as good as ever arrangement of administration that works better, costs less and is equipped for serving the residents' needs effortlessly.

The focal government additionally felt a noteworthy need to set up an activity that will give change connected help to State Governments and ULBs in the nation. In accordance with the desires for the Central Government, the Urban Local Bodies Department is likewise proactive towards the changing condition and is laying its emphasis on the proficiency in urban infrastructure and administration conveyance instruments, network interest, and responsibility of ULBs/Parastatal offices towards subjects. The Department, having perceived the need to incorporate the change activities and scale up the push to catalyze interest in urban infrastructure crosswise over States in the nation, is taking a few measures.

The Directorate of Haryana is headquartered at Sector 17, Chandigarh and the Municipal Corporations, Councils and the Committees are situated in the field. At Present, there are 9 Municipal Corporations, 14 Municipal Councils and 53 Municipal Committees in the state which are going by Municipal Commissioners and other set up officers.

2. REVIEW OF LITERATURES

With the presentation of the elective infrastructure, the quantity of civil boards of trustees, whose individuals were completely or somewhat chosen, expanded from 5 out of 1884 to 122 out of 1885.

Thusly, the parentage of those individuals likewise expanded to 42.6 rate and non-official individuals progressed toward becoming leaders of some metropolitan boards. In 1885, 77 of the 195 districts had non-official individuals as their leaders (Hugh Thinker, 1967).

Another critical capacity of the metro bodies was to give instructive offices. The administration passed a determination in January, 1888 which expressed: each city advisory group, at whatever point it is required by the legislature will give such a base some yearly for use on instruction selective of changes for the development and support of structures as the legislature will every once in a while decide (Punjab Government Gazette, 1888).

The Municipal Act of 1884 was cancelled by the Act of 1891 which was later corrected in 1896, 1900 and 1905. The Act presented just such changes as experience had appeared to be alluring. There was no adjustment in the constitution of the metropolitan board of trustees aside from that the quantity of authorities was restricted to 33% of the total (R.C. Khanna, 1957)

The Punjab was the main area to join the Royal Commission's proposals in a statute. In 1911, the PMA was passed which, with specific alterations, is as yet the premise of civil government in Haryana, the Punjab and in addition Himachal Pradesh (A. R. Tyagi, 1972).

In 1931, the Punjab Municipal (Executive Officer) Act was passed. The Act enabled the legislature to make it mandatory on any district which had neglected to release its commitments appropriately to select an official officer and to depend him with all the official capacities, in this manner living the advisory group just with deliberative capacities (Partap Singh)

To the extent forces and status are concerned the leader of the civil chamber/advisory group is the leader of the official and in addition deliberative wing and activities all forces vested in the board of trustees. He performs both official and deliberative capacities. He directs the gatherings of the board of trustees, watches over the official and monetary organization of the advisory group/committee. He controls over the exercises of the officers and different representatives of the advisory group or gathering in his official limit he practices the forces, for example, those identifying with the arrangement of low paid representatives, disciplinary control of the civil staff, supervision of a wide range of city works, holiness of agreements of lesser esteem, readiness and organization of metropolitan spending plan and control over city back. In the execution of these capacities he is helped by the secretary and other specialized staff (Partap Singh).

Each city board of trustees may likewise every once in a while choose maybe a couple of it individuals to be VP. The term of office of a VP will be such term as might be settled by-laws (Haryana Municipal Act, 1973).

3. DEVELOPMENT OF URBAN LOCAL BODIES IN HARYANA

Data Communication Technology in Municipal Corporation The legislature of Haryana has laid out its Information Technology (IT) strategy. This strategy looks for a profound effect activity by the state Government in empowering substitution of customary conveyance arrangement of Municipal open administrations by IT driven arrangement of administration that works better, cost less and is fit for serving the national's needs effortlessly. Haryana has an IT vision and a fantasy that all residents should get to government and private part benefits from their own particular towns and towns. At exhibit, the accompanying Municipal administrations have been coordinated and offered from Common Services Centers (CSCs) for the general population Forms and Procedures; Birth and Death Certificate of Urban Areas; House Tax Collection, Billing and Query; Social Welfare Schemes Application acknowledgment; Caste and Residence Certificate Issuing; Passport Application accumulation; Arms License; License: Permanent Driving License/Duplicate/Renewal; Vehicle Registration Certificate. The Government of Haryana is intending to give more city administrations to the residents. In a word one might say that e-administration activities fortify responsibility, increment straightforwardness, enhance proficiency and diminish defilement. E-administration is changing associations by presenting ICT in their administration infrastructure and separating authoritative limits and encouraging law based procedures.
